Charley Banks, reported by your Trenton

-Charley Banks, reported by your French correspondent as being shot and almost beat to death some days ago by an unknown man, while in a game of cards, was arrested yesterday north of Honey Grove by Deputy Sheriff Ben Holland. His name is not Banks, but Charley Fox. He was out on bond for two cases of carrying arms at Monkstown, and had skipped his bond so we are told. He was also wanted here on two indictments found by the last grand jury, charging him with aggravated assault in two cases. He was brought here last night and committed to jail. The man who shot him at Treuton during their game of cards was Sam Lafavers. He is at large. The officers are after him. Bauks (or Charley Fox, which is his real name.) is rapidly recovering from his wounds, though yet badly disfigured.
